How Persons not Assessed may Vote.

Editors of the Dispatch: Please inform me through your paper whether any one can vote as the law stands without paying his poll-tax, in case he has applied at the proper collector's office and said collector had no assessment against said person nor no charge of any tax whatever; and if not, please tell me, I pray, what grounds to take when I have been to pay my taxes and they are not charged against me. Shall I not vote on the 6th day of November?

I am, sirs, your obedient servant, JOHN T. COOLEY.

ANSWER .- Attorney-General Daniel gave it as his opinion that persons not assessed with last year's capitation tax should be now assessed by the Commissioner of the Revenue. Our correspondent, therefore, can call upon Mr. Munford at the City Hall, who will assess the tax and report the fact to the Auditor and to the City Treasurer (Mr. Ragland), or to Mr. Andrew Jinkins, Clerk. He can then pay the amount, and qualify himself to vote. If the voter is not in fault no interest will be added.

To the Editors of the Dispatch: Will you inform me what the witty wiseacre who carries the State upon his head means by his constant outery, "Our Bour-bons—Our Bourbons"? What are these Bourbons? Are they barnacles, or bunions, or tape-worms, which afflict him? As I am very uneasy about his condition, please let me know quickly. D. CEAUX & CEAUX. [Our distinguished correspondent must apply at headquarters-the State office.]

Some time ago there was a discussion in the Dispatch as to the origin of the apho-rism "Consistency, thou art a jewel!" Nobody seemed able to ascertain the fact. A writer in the Sunny South now says that the phrase first occurs in an old ballad written in 1764, and entitled "Jolly Robby Roughhead ":

"Tush, tush, my lass! such thought resign;
Comparisons are cruel.
Fine pictures suit to frames as fine,
Consistency's a jewel."
